WILKIN'S AMIELET.
THIS MOST VALUABLE PREPAration for restoring and preserving the Hair, it the most perfect luxuriance and color, was originally compounded by the celebrated oculist, Dr. Samuel M. Elliotr, of New York, and has for the last ten year been gratuitously distributed by him to his friends. Dr. Elliott, urged by many to allow this most valuable cure for haldness to be brought before the public, has now kindly and gratuitously presented the undersigned with the recipe for that purpose, as will be seen from Dr. Elhott's certificate below. The Amielet is also highly recommended for general use as a most pleasant and exhilerating wash for the head, keeping it entirely free from dandruff. Retail price 50 cents per bottle. For sale by Druggists generally. Orders, with remittances, sentio the undersigned, will be promptly executed.

RAILEOAD! THIS GREAT WORK OF INTERnal improvement (379 miles from Wheeling to Baltimore, and 403 to Washington,) was opened to the Ohio river in January, 1855, and has now been fully asted and approved, both as a freight and passenger route. This road is located in a romantic country, is solidly constructed, fully equipped, and carefully annaged, and is thus rendered an attractive as well at a safe line for travelers. The late completion of the Central Ohio Road, from Columbus to the Ohio river, near Wheeling, adds greatly to the importance of this route, offering, as it does, the most thorough Railroad onnection with the entire West. coute, ofering, as it does, the most thorough Railroau onnection with the entire West.

An Incident.—Some days ago, it was gossipped that the suite of Santa Anna was in town, en route from Mexico to—nobody knew where. It was a mistake, however, as the hero of St. Jacinto did not come this way after his abdication. Yet the rumor served to recall an incident which was related to us, as having occurred during the Mexican nero's former exile. The name of the city where it occurred we have forgotten, but the main facts are about as follows: It was at the theatre, and Santa Anna occupied a conspicuous box. The play was interesting, and the main characters were played by first rate actors; yet very few persons paid much attention to the performance. All eyes were directed to the box when contained the discussion. ed Mexican, and opera-glasses leveled their volleys of wonder at him, and seemed untiring in scanning of wonder at him, and seemed untiring in scanning nis features. Among the audience was a young man who seemed a stranger, and whose gaze was rivetted upon the object of general attraction.—
There was in his face an expression of great anxiety, and he appeared restless, ever and anon changing his position, yet ever resuming the earnest scrunity. After the conclusion of the first piece, Santa Anna, surrounded by a number of gentlemen and friends, was standing in the promenade of the theatre, when the young man before spoken of the theatre, when the young man before spoken of was observed to walk towards them. When within a few feet of the crowd, he suddenly drew a knife, hurried through, and grappled the one-leg-ed General by the throat; but before his weapon could descend to do its work, his arm was stayed, could descend to do its work, his arm was stayed, and he was dragged away with much difficulty from the spot. When questioned as to the reason for his singular conduct, he said, with great vehemence: "He murdered my father at San Jacinto, and I have sworn, if ever opportunity offered, to avenge his death!" The tone of feeling with which he uttered these words, elicited the sympathy of the bystanders, who, instead of having turn thy of the bystanders, who, instead of having him arrested, helped him to effect his escape. Remembering this incident, we were forcibly impressed with the idea that Santa Anna is altogether too cunning to attempt the tour of the United States, or any part of them. There are too many "wild Americans," who yet remember vividly and distinctly the scenes of San Jacinto and the Alamo St. Louis Republican, 10th. FREAKS OF AN INEBRIATE.-Yesterday after-FREAES OF AN INEBRIATE.—Yesterday afternoon, a humorous individual who had raised his spirits up by pouring spirits down, perambulated Broadway, amusing himself by punching every one he met in the "portmanteau" with an umbrella, swearing that there was nothing like percussion for diagonosing diseases of the chest. Seeing a very portly person approaching, he braced himself CHE BEST AND CHEAPEST ARTICLE, AND THE against an awning post, as he expressed it, "to take better aim," as he always liked to shoot from a for cooling and preserving Meats, Milk, Fruits, Wines, cest. As soon as the unfortunate fatty came within reach of his unbrellifferous weapon, he gave nim a regular sockdolager, just under the short ribs, which would have doubled him up like a two foot rule, had he been a lean man, and susceptible of the operation; as it was, it brought him up with a grunt like a northwester on a bender. The huthe sound, that his lungs were diseased, and that ne was going into a decline; but, alas for human gratitude, so far from rendering any thanks to his volunteer medical adviser, the fat patient whipped out a knife, and plunged it, most unmercifully, into the abdomen of the former, two or three times, each thrust followed by a crimson stream, which greatly marred the beauty of the gentleman's immaculate white pants. The sight of the sanguineous fluid appeared to change the current of his thoughts entirely, and to put him in quite another vein. Both he and the lat 'un appeared prodigiously frightened, and each made tracks in opposite directions, as fast as their respective propellers could carry them. The knife nsed was a well and dull nexter instrument and the reast. mall and dull pocket instrument, and the wound inflicted hardly reached beneath the skin. he was paying attention to the girls, he could not raise courage enough to pop the question, though ne tried to do so a dozen times, and would have been a lonely, dispirited old bach, troubled with the blues and hypochondria, had not his amiable come to the rescue. For the benefit of throbbing treats sighing in the bowers of love and done to nearts sighing in the bowers of love, and done up in dimity, we give the secret as it was told to us. Mrs. R. invited him to dinner, and of course to dinner he went. The good things were all dished up, and the party drew around the table. Mrs. R. nastened to do the agreeable, and all went on nicely until the last course, when Jollybones no-ticed his angel missed something. "Pray, dear, what shall I help you to?" said Jollybones.

"I really don't know," then glancing towards the head of the table, she added, "mother, do you think a little marriage ceremony would hurt me?"

But before Johnsones had turned his eyes towards "mother," he had arisen and was going to the kitchen for another pot of tea. That night the marriage ceremony was dished up to the mu-

Good Advice.—The editor of the Irish American gives his readers the following good advice:

"Fall elections will come upon us thick and heavily. The true American, enlightened and polished, is generous and just, and no amount of false representation can affect him in the conclusion to which he arrives. Appeal to him; act on the defensive; bear up manfully against acruel and pitiless prejudice; be Republican and Democratic, or Irish-American friends; never give up the ship, offer no insult, and resent like men any outrages perpetrated upon your persons or property, and you and sangred click Euler hand to the iron chair, the ferceps connected with machine attached firmly to the tooth, and Tushmaker stationing himself in the rear, took hold of a lever four feet in length. He turned it slightly. Old Byles gave a groan and lifted up his right leg. Another turn, and another groun, and up went the leg again. "What do you raise your leg for?" asked the Doctor. "I can't help it," said the patient. "well," rejoined the Tushmaker, "that tooth is bound to come now." The Pioneer Public School.

The late Mr. William Fry, whose death was briefly referred to yesterday, was a gentleman to whom the public owes some little depth of graticular grating at the late and flaceid, came in to have a tooth drawn. Thinking it would come out very the machine. He did so, and at the first turn drew the whom the public owes some little depth of grati-tude for the part he has taken in promoting the cause of general education. In alluding to the fact yesterday, we spoke of his connection, at the beginning of the present century, with Robert Vaux, James Barclay, and some other young men, in laying the foundation of the first public school in laying the foundation of the first public school in Pennsylvania. In this allusion there was a slight error; for, however distinguished Mr. Vaux and Mr. Barelay have been as friends of public education, their ages at that time would scarcely admit of being associated with one so much their senioras Mr. Fry. As the history of the institu-tion referred to possesses more than ordinary pub-lic interest, it being the pioneer in that wise syssenior as Ar. Fry. As the history of the institu-tion referred to possesses more than ordinary pub-lic interest, it being the pioneer in that wise sys-tem of public education which has since extended its branches throughout the State, and is justly the pride of every theral citizen of Pennsylvania, a more extended notice of its origin and history

This gentleman emigrated from Germany, a poor lad, with much experience in the world, a knowledge of the humble and useful occupation of baking, and with twenty-five pounds as the extent of his fortune when he embarked for Philadelphia. With industry, frugality, and enterprise, he managed to make money in baking gingerpress, in Lattice constitutions. He was a man of marked character and intelligence, and bore a very honorable and useful part in the revolutionary struggle. In one of the Conventions of that period, called to provide a subscription to purchase fire-arms, Mr Ludwig delivgence, and bore a very nonorable and useful part, in the revolutionary struggle. In one of the Conventions of that period, called to provide a subscription to purchase fire-arms, Mr Ludwig delivered an animated speech, concluding it with putting down his name for £200. The magnitude of the bequest induced the Trustees of the Pennsylvania University to become a competitor for it, against the Philadelphia Society above referred to. It was required that the act of incorporation, after receiving the official signatures, should be enrolled at Lancaster. The agent of the University and the agent of the Philadelphia Society started on a race to Lancaster, each with a deed in his pocket, to get the benefit of a first enrollment, which would secure the legacy. The University man must have been an old fogy of his time, for, though on horseback, and with the first start, he let the agent of the Society distance nim before he reached the first stopping place, and he abandoned the race. The Society's man kept on, unconscious of his victory, borrowing and hiring horses from farmers when his own gave out, and borses from farmers when his own gave out, and reached Lancaster, sixty-six miles, in seven hours, and had the enrollment properly made and recorded. In secured the legacy, and enabled the Society to greatly extend its operations. The citizens subsected $2,500 additional, at the suggestion of Dr. Benjamin Rush. A school-house was fitted up, and Thomas Walters, in 1802, undertook the duties of the first regular teacher of the school, with sixty pupils. The friends of the school, with sixty pupils. The friends of the school continued to augment, and also the number of pupils. In 1811, a school for girls was established. In 1814, under the managers of the same Society, two Lancasterian schools were established in Southwark, and the County Commissioners allowed the Society six dollars a pupil for a limited number of schools, and relieved the Society of its duties, though it continued to, and still does, support two free schools.

barrassment. It evidently has nothing to do with National politics, and should not be a party question. Our opinion of all such laws is, that they are anti-republican and despotic. We like temperance, but not well enough to take despotism for its sake. If we have an evil of such magnitude that better remain. The remedy is worse than the disease. We should treat this temperance fanaticism preposterous laws to stop the manufacture and sale of liquor, we should not sacrifice greater objects to oppose them. Let them go ahead. They will quit when they are done, and find they have done no good.

It is disgusting to see drunken political brawlers yelling for temperance, and a demagogue riding the hobby of a prohibitory law with a bottle of whisky in his pocket. It is no uncommon occurrence to find plently of bottles and demijohns full of the troyed. "critter" where the most stringent laws exist. Such things inspire a contempt for legal authority that does more harm than they can possibly do

We are rejoiced to see the Democracy of Maine probably in power again. The State will now have some rational legislation. Besides, this Republican party is beaten. It is the ultra, fanatical, anti-slavery, Know-Nothing agglomeration of political heresies. It is no matter whether everything is righted or not, men of sense and moderation and some statesmanlike views have got hold of the helm, and we can hope for better things.

We shall look now with some curiosity to old Massachusetts. The age of miracles is past, perhaps, but the stupendous follies of the last Legislature of that State may wake up the Yankee nation. It is a great nation when it is up-great in folly and great in wisdom. Who knows but the old line Democrated Mings there may get up a successful reach, and put men in power who a Mexican, who rode into town as the party have some sense and manliness about them—who will not go nosing about into nunneries or burning witches. These Bay State Yankees, when wrong, get as wrong as the very Devil. Let's see them they learned that Phoenix was killed.

Atchison Re-elected.—The telegraph might have brought us, at any time during the past week, advices of the re-election of David R. Atchison to the United states Senate from Missouri; but those who direct its energies seem to be too intent on fabricating Know-Nothing victories to forward the most important news, by the Examiner, of September 1, printed at Jefferson, Mo., we are informed that the Missouri Legislature re-ussembled at that place last week, and proceeded on United States Senator for six years from the fourth of March last.

The Examiner, which has at-its head, "For President in 1866, Hon. D. R. Atchison, of Missouri," thus exults: "Electron or Gex. Atchison, et Missouri, "thus exults: "Electron or Gex. Atchison, be able and uncompromising champion of anti-Benton Democracy and State Rights, is re-elected to that high place which he so long and so honoraby filled, and which the foes of Southern institutions had hoped he would never again occupy—the United States Senate. The Hon. D. R. Atchison, by the fully expressed will of the people, and atter one of the hardest contests that ever characterized our Legislature, has been restored to the councils of the nation. The candidates were—Gen. Atchison, Thomas H. Benton, and Hon. S. H. Woodson. After three most exciting sessions, in which the claims of each candidate were most stoutly maintained by his respective friends, the anti-Bentons carried their champion triumphantly through. The election took place at the Wednesday night session of the Legislature. The session was an unsusually exciting one; every arthice was resorted to by our opponents to defeat an election; but after being prolonged this between twelve and one o'clock, the indomitable friends of the South brought on the final balot, which resulted in the re-election of the Capuiets, Abolitonism throughout the Uniton abashed, and another upholder of the Constitution secured to the service of the nation."

Benton.

Total, lsl members; of whom only fifty, or far less than a quorum, voted on either of these bailots. This election is therefore a fraud, intended to give the slavery propaganda an extra voter and a reckless leader on the meeting of Congress next December. Atchison will have no right to the seat on the strength of this election, but he will take it nevertheless, and trust to the pro-slaver, majority to keep him in it so long as his presence shall seem conducive to their common ends. The Mexicans fought like tigers—using burned. Sheriff Solomon, with a large posse, left this morning at daylight, in hopes of capturing the robbers, who are still at large. Great excitement exists, and it is very probable that before night every Mexican camp in this vicinity will be destroyed.

PARTICULARS OF THE MURDER OF SHERIFF PHENIX.—A correspondent of the State Journal, writing from Sonora, under date of August 13th, gives the following particulars of the murder of the Sheriff of Amador county.

SONORA, August 13-1 A. M. Mr. Phoenix, Sheriff of Amador county, has just been brought into town, dead—having been shot through the heart by a Mexican in El Salvado, a small camp about a mile from Chinese camp, in Tuolumne county.

We have also just received a letter from Sheriff Clark, giving the particulars of the melancholy affair. It appears that the Mexicans were followed through the country into Tuolumne, at a place known as Old Chinese Camp, where the officers arrived about noon on Saturday—took possession of the camp, and arrested every Mexican for ex-amination—but Americans who live there declare camp, and were not away from it at the time of Rancheria tragedy. The letter adds, "that a more villainous looking set were never seen." A division of the officers was made here—some get as wrong as the very Devil. Let's see them get right, and see how right they will be. They emptied the tea once into Boston harbor. Let them now empty the Hiss-Patterson party into the gutter, and it will be an exploit worthy the Sons of the Sires of Seventy-six. Maine has set a glorious example, let Massachusetts emulate it.

The N. Y. Tribune has a bogus story about the assembling of the Missouri Legislature and the re-election of Atchison to the United States Senate. There is no truth in the story. The Legislature of that State has not been in session at all. We give the following from the Tribune. at all. We give the following from the Tribune. slightly wounding his assailants. Durham, Smith and McCormack then shot the first Mexican, who fell, riddled by a shower of bullets-whilst Paul shot another, who also fell—the third one, with a revolver in each hand, taking refuge in a tent. The second was supposed dead, but after all had passed, he arose and escaped to the chapperal. The third was discovered secreted in a tent, firing when any one approached. This and the adjoining tents were fired, when he rushed out with a revolver in each hand, and continued firing until we clubs until he was killed. Phoenix will be buried this afternoon with Masonic aonors. At 5 o'clock we start again in pursuit of them. We are de-termined to be in at the death of the wounded Greasers. The country is in arms.

PARTICULARS OF THE MASSACRE AT RANCHERIA. It appears, says the State Tribune, that a party of Mexicans and Chilenos, who have long infested that part of the country, made an attak upon the town of Rancheria, butchering the inhabitants in cold blood. The number of dead and wounded are not given, but one of the stage passengers averred to have seen five men and one woman, who had been brutally murdered. Although our information comes from a source entitled to credit, we hope, for the honor of humanity, it is not true. It is said the party passed through Drytown in the night, firing a volley as they passed through. They are pursued by the citizens. Should they be taken, a roasting alive would be too good for them. We are indebted to Wells, Fargo & Co. for the following information in relation to the matter:

Jackson, August 7, 1855.

We learn from Mr. Cross, from Drytown, that a party of Mexicans and Chileans commenced an assault on the people of Rancheria, killing five American men and one American woman. Parties from Sutter, Drytown, and all the neighborish hood, are in hot pursuit, and it is hoped they will

[From the State Journal.] The name of one of the persons killed was Eugene Francis, formerly from Ohio. He was a merchant at Rancheria, and after the murder his safe was robbed of some $2,000. His clerk and teamster were also killed. The name of the woman killed was Mrs. Diamond; her husband was also among the killed, and it is feared a child also. The band of murderers and robbers is supposed to have been led by, and partly consisted of, Americans, who, taking advantage of some difficulties which We rejoice to see the old line Democrats taking things in hand again. It is probable they have carried the State.

The Maine Law has been the chief cause of embarrassment. It evidently has nothing to do with Journal of Tuesday:

Yesterday morning Sheriff Phoenix, of Amador county, and Clark, of Calaveras, with a posse, passed through this place on the trail of some eight of the Amador robbers. Upon arrival at Salvada, a Mexican camp near Chinese, they enside, a party of the band came house, and while making search inam over thirty years of age, and have four children near Lexington, Fayette county, Ky., named Me-lissa, Campbell, Jeremiah and Frank. REMARKABLE SUICIDE.—On Thursday night last REMARKABLE SUICIDE.—On Thursday night last a gentleman named Amos Barrett arrived here from Sacramento, and put up at Wilson's Exchange, taking a room on the third floor. At the usual hour for making up the beds on the day followed by the beds of the beds on the day followed by the beds of the norning, when attention was directed to the apartment by a very offensive odor, apparently pro-ceeding therefrom. The door was immediately forced open, and the dead body of Mr. Barrett was found lying at full length upon the bed. From several letters found among the papers of the deeased, it was evident that he had taken poison on the night of his arrival in this city. The body particularly about his face and breast was already in a forward state of decomposition, and this fact warrants the belief that he had taken poison soon after reaching the apartment, and died during the after reaching the apartment, and died during the night. Among the letters there was one addressed to his creditors, and mother, brothers and sisters, by which it appears that he was impelled to the act of suicide simply from a sense of chagin, caused by a paragraph reflecting upon his character, that appeared in an inferior paper some days since. The deceased was the agent of Wells, Fargo & Co., at the town of Jackson, Amador county. He had always maintained a reputation for honesty and integrity, and enjoyed the entire confidence of his employers. The letter addressed to his family is written in very affectionate terms, o his family is written in very affectionate terms and describes his suffering since the appearance of the paragraph alluded to, which charged him with meanness in pecuniary matters. The following Although with a slight fancy for banking business, I thought I was safe. Wells, Fargo & Co. considered me honest. Tell all my friends that brother knew nothing of this matter, and does not to this day. I am too weak to write more. I'll see you in Heaven. I have assigns in the store for what I owe. An exceedingly French affair, which came near causing a loss of life, took place on the 2d iust. A Frenchman named Briant went into the office of L. E. the principal booksellers in the United States. Every woman can here discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described the nature, character, and cause of her complaint, and be spared much anxiety and suffering, as well as the unpleasantness of making known te, or making inquiry of, a physician in respect to the numberless ailments to which she is subneed of instruction and advice in respect to her situaon, which she will here find. This book tells her what is the matter, and tells her what to do for it, in simple but chaste words, and such as she can understand.

DEXTRACT OF A LETTER TOWN AS GENERAL THE MARRIED DAYSON, MAY 1, 1847.

DR. A. M. MAURICEAU—My Dear Sir. My wife has been perceptibly sinking for some three years or more, in consequence of great anguish and suffering some months before and during confinement; every successive one more and more debilitated and prostrated her, putting her life in imminent danger, and which was on the last occasion despaired of. I supposed that this state of things was inevitable, and resigned myself to meet the worst. I heard your book highly spoken of, as containing some matters reaching my case. On its receipt and perusal I cannot express to you the relief it afforded my distressed mind, and the joy its pages imparted to my wife, on learning that the great discovery of M. M. Desomeaux provided a remedy. It opened a prospect to me which I little conceived was possible. But for this, ere another year would have passed over my head, in all human probability my wife would have been in her grave and my children left motherless.

Heal the Sick.

Men of liberal education at the present day devote their talents to discover the means remove those painful maladies which assail the human frame. There is no nobler art than that of healing the sick, considering the numberless diseases to which man is liable, and which may cause him to drag out a procacted life of distress, or suddenly cut him off in the loom of his existence and usefulness. We should gratefully seize upon every means of counteracting their dreadful effects, or causing a removal of those clogs to happiness. In those cases where the Liver o the Stomach is the cause, we would highly reco Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson. No medicine at this time stands higher than these Bitters, and to those who are suffering from th See advertisement.

O'er my dinner. You have no manners—not a whit! Light on my pudding, there you sit, As if you owned it every bit— The dish and all; But, faith, I'll give you such a hit, I guess you'll fall.

Down, there you go, plump in the butter! Now buzz and kick, and sprawl and splutter, You're welcome now to frisk and flutter, And bite-I'll risk ye; You're safe as drunkard in the gutter, Skin full of whisky.

Mind there, Miss Fly, what you're about That pot contains no cream nor krout, And when you're in you'll find it out,
By strength of mustard.
But, faith, I'm glad you took that route,
And missed the custard.

You should not bite young lasses so, Through stocking-holes about the toe— You know they'd blush before a beau, To stop and scratch it; And knowing that's a tender toe, Please do not bite it.

Oh, for one cold December night With stormy winds to fiercely fight,
To drive these hateful plagues from sight,
Back to old Cairo,
Where Moses called them forth to bite
The host of Pharoah.

I saw four eyes, and four lips meet, I heard the words, how sweet! how sweet Had then the fairies given a treat, Under the lindens?

I pondered long and could not tell What dainty pleased them both so well; Bees! bees! it was your hydromel, Under the lindens.

Strader and for sale by [se6] FONDA & MORRIS. The army lost a bag containing a thousand dollars. He advertised it, offering a reward of one hundred dollars to the lucky finder for its restoration. An honest, unassuming man soon entered the officer's house, and delivered the talega. The officer observing the man waiting, said, "Call to-morrow: if I find all right I shall hand you the reward." The call was made accordingly, when the poor fellow was told, to his utter astonishment and chagrin, that he had taken the amount of the offered reward out of the bag, and that he would get no more. A few days afterward he was advised by a friend to go to the Captain-General. Tacon never failed to find a way to prevent an imposition, and was always ready to punish injustice. On hearing the complaint, the officer was immediately sent for, who, on being desired to explain, said that it was true that he had lost a talega (a thousand dollars in gold), and that he had offered a hundred dollars reward for its restoration; but that the finder had true that he had lost a talega (a thousand dollars in gold), and that he had offered a hundred dollars reward for its restoration; but that the finder had returned him the bag with but nine hundred dollars, and that he must have taken out the promised him the dollars, and that he must have taken out the promised him the promise "the bag that the gentleman brought to you contained but nine hundred dollars, and yours contained a thousand? So, so! I see how it is—that bag cannot be yours! Go for it, and return it without delay." Remonstrance was useless. Latest from Norfolk and Portsmouth. DISTRESSING INTELLIGENCE. - The Baltimore

Sun of the 10th inst. says:
Our intelligence from Norfolk on Saturday morning, like that received on Friday, encouraged the hope that the hand of death had been stayed in that afflicted and almost desolated town, but we regret to say that our letters which came to hand vesterday, bring us most gloomy and distressing accounts of the ravages of the epidemic. After a slight abatement for a day or two, the disease appears to have increased in virulence, and on Friday, it is said, claimed no less than forty victims, mong them some of the best citizens of Norfolk. On Saturday, too, up to 2 P.M., there were thirty-five deaths. This is a terrible mortality in such a duced population.

We deeply regret to hear of the death of our correspondent, Richard Gatewood, jr., Esq., one of the editors and proprietors of the Norfolk Beacon. le was a gentleman of sterling character and fine ilities, and his daily letters to the Sun, since the nmencement of the epidemic, have been universally admired and copied by the press throughout the country. His attention had for weeks been given to the sick and distressed, and he had nobly braved the ravages of the disease from the begin ring until a few days ago, when he was stricke own, and now follows to the grave his intimate friend, Mayor Woodis, his partner, Col. Cunning ham, and many others with whom he had been in close friendship for years. He died in the thirtythird year of his age, after six days' illness, a mar-lyr to human suffering. We have the following brief letter announcing his death and that of [Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.] NORFOLK, Saturday, Sept. 8, 1855. Your correspondent, Richard Gatewood, jr., one of the proprietors and editors of the Beacon, died this morning, of the prevailing fever, after six days' illness, in the 33d year of his age. His numerous friends bear testimony to the virtues of his heart and hand. I hear, also, since my last leaving the house, of the death this morning of B. B. Walters, proprietor of the National; Wm. B. Another Railroad Accident.—On Saturday afternoon last, as the up train of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad neared Norristown, a terrible accident occurred, which nearly resulted in the loss of several hundred lives. The engineer discovered that several of the cars of the train were off the track and working right and left the train off the track, and working right and left, the train being upon an embankment. He kept the train stretched and checked it by degrees. The train numbered nine cars, of which six were thrown from the track. The wheeis and gearing of the detach-ed cars were entirely torn away. Some five hun-dred present were within the cars. All united in if it were not for the pastime afforded by shooting and fishing. The innocent birds and fish are made lives.
